Summary: Jenna Jameson has been accused of harassing her ex boyfriend's current girlfriend.

Jenna Jameson's resume includes stripper, porn star, porn producer, and now... bully? According to Perez Hilton, a model filed a restraining order against the 42-year-old Queen of Porn, saying she bullied her.

Former UFC ring girl, Amber Miller, is dating Jameson's ex, Tito Ortiz. She says Jameson harassed her online, sending Jameson's hundreds of thousands of fans to swarm Miller's pages and write mean comments.

To recap, Jameson dated MMA fighter Ortiz from 2006 to 2013. The pair have two children together.

A year after Jameson and Ortiz split, he started dating Miller, and their relationship became public in November of 2014. Miller frequently shares sweet moments of their time together on her Twitter account.

And it seems that their very public relationship brought out jealousy in Jameson. The alleged mean girl reportedly made Snapchat videos urging her followers to attack Miller, and they complied.

Fed up, Miller filed a restraining order, and in the legal documents, she said Jameson's fans wrote her taunts and death threats. She alleged that Jameson harassed her directly too, saying she threatened to throw acid on her pretty face.

The terms of the restraining order state that Jameson will have to stop the online bullying and stay 100 yards away. Perez Hilton presumes that Miller, 38, was granted the order because she seemed to celebrate a legal victory with a Twitter post today. After news broke of the restraining order, she posted Beyonce meme that said, "Girl, bye."
