

Foley & Lardner Hires Three Lawyers

Foley & Lardner has hired three new partners.

Robert Huey, formerly of Hunton & Williams, will join in Washington DC. He handles international transaction and securities work.

Two former Katten Muchin lawyers, Russell Selman and Bradley Rochlen, are joining in Chicago. Selman does corporate real estate and public utility environmental compliance. Rochlen handles environmental litigation.

Foley & Lardner LLP is an international general practice law firm started in 1842 in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. It employs 1,000 attorneys, and is the 24th largest firm in the United States.